Communique From Cairo
Tells Of Unconditional
Surrender Of Axis
Troops

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
CAIRO, Jan. 17.—The Axis garrison trapped at Halfaya Pass in the Libyan desert near the Egyptian frontier surrendered unconditionally today.

Announcement that the Axis forces had given up after repeated land and sea artillery attacks on their positions was made by the British middle east command at Cairo.

The communique said about 5,500 Axis prisoners were taken by the British, who knocked over the Halfaya Pass stronghold only a few days after smashing the German and Italian forces at nearby Sidi Barrani.

"The Axis garrison at Halfaya Pass surrendered unconditionally yesterday," the communique stated.

"About 5,500 prisoners were taken. The surrender occurred this morning. Seventy-six British troops held prisoner by the enemy were rescued.

"Enemy guns and war material were captured intact.

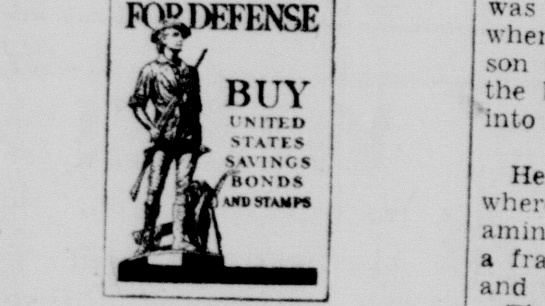

"In the forward area about Agheila, severe sandstorms and heavy rain interfered with all operations."

The surrender, announced by the SINGAPORE, Jan. 17.—Heavy-death-dealing air attacks on Japanese ships, barges and land transport columns were announced by the British Far Eastern command today.

At the same time, a communique admitted Japanese forces have gained a footing on the south bank of the Muar river in western Malaya, about 100 miles north-west of Singapore.

The river forms the left flank of the "Pownall line," along which major battle is expected to develop between Japanese and British-Australian forces in the near future.

The communique conceded the Japs have occupied Gemas, 110 miles north of Singapore, and also reported two new Japanese air attacks on Singapore which caused about 150 civilian casualties.

Heavy casualties here declared to have been inflicted on the Japs when R. A. F. planes pounded

Of James Walter Bonk

STRUCK BY CAR ON WEST STATE STREET

James Walter Bonk, aged 9 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bonk, of Gardner Lane, R. F. D. No. 2, was fatally injured Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when he was struck by a truck owned by the National Cash Register Company, which was operated by J. E. Johnson, of 804 Neshannock Boulevard, on West State street extension, Route 422, just outside the city limits.

According to the story told Coroner T. F. Nugent, the boy was on his way home from school, and was going down West State street when the truck driven by Mr. Johnson came down the hill. Suddenly the boy is said to have darted out into the road and was struck.

Dies In Hospital

He was brought to the hospital, where death resulted at 6 p. m. Examination at the hospital revealed a fractured skull, broken right leg, and internal injuries.

The child's death brings motor fatalities for the year to four, far ahead of last year's record.

James Walter Bonk was born in New Castle on February 23, 1923, son of Walter and Dorothy Soland Bonk.

Fire Alarm Box Sticks Calling Out All Companies

Damage Of $400 Reported
From Blaze In Lincoln
Avenue Home, Friday

It was a case of calling all fire trucks Friday afternoon when Box 211 was sounded summoning firemen to a blaze in the home of J. M. Muir of 309 East Lincoln avenue at 4:15 o'clock. Eighteen rounds came in on the fire alarm system when the box stuck calling out every fire truck in the city. No. 7 coming up from the Seventh Ward to Central station.

Damage of around $400 to the house and contents was reported by firemen, who were told the blaze was started by children playing with matches in the basement. The blaze was confined to the cellar entirely.

Firemen were also called to 449 Neshannock avenue at 7:25 p. m. Friday, when a chimney burned out at the home of Frank Dute. No damage resulted.

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, Jan. 17.—Russian front line reports hinted today that Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's southern Russian armies have completed their encirclement of Kharkov and may occupy the great industrial city within a few days.

Kharkov has been a focal point of the Nazi defenses on the southern sector of the front. Its recapture would be another major victory for the advancing Red army forces.

London military circles had no confirmation of reports that Kharkov has been encircled, but the London Daily Herald reported from Kuibyshev that the Germans have made "all preparations" to evacuate the city.

Simultaneously, aided by fresh divisions of reinforcements, the Russians pushed forward with their offensives aimed at trapping large Nazi armies in the pockets of the Crimean peninsula and the Moshaisk sector west of Moscow.

Tremendous Welcome Is Given Churchill

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill returned to London today, after a dramatic flight across the Atlantic from Bermuda, to one of the most tremendous impromptu welcomes in the memory of the oldest Briton.

Word spread through London like wildfire that the doughty "Winnie" had arrived in Plymouth this morning aboard a civilian plane, and tremendous crowds thronged Paddington station to greet him.

The prime minister stepped off the train and into the arms of his wife. Virtually the entire cabinet and ranking members of the United States embassy were at the station.

The enthusiastic crowds nearly swept Mrs. Churchill and the official party off their respective feet. Many dignitaries lost their hats as they sought to form a protective ring around the prime minister.

Finally they managed to get him into his automobile, pushing their way through the dense, cheering crowd, some of whom clambered onto the car's running boards.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Waves of Japanese troops are battering the right flank of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Philippine lines in a heavy attack supported by aircraft and artillery, the war department announced today.

The attack appears to be the prelude of a long-anticipated major Japanese offensive designed to wipe out the staunch defenders who have held out north of Manila against all pressure for about two weeks.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Japan's military operations have become increasingly hazardous, Washington observers said today, pointing out that American naval action, by retarding movements of Nipponese troops, has struck a telling blow in defense of the Philippines, Malaya, China and the Indies.

While the frustrated Japanese high command entrusted especially trained and equipped infiltration troops to break the deadlock in the Philippines, the U. S. navy sank five enemy ships in "far eastern waters."

Japan's losses in this phase of the sea war included two large transport ships and one small one, along with two cargo boats. The navy department's communique failed to discuss whether the vessels were loaded with men and supplies.

Report Japs Are Checked Inside Burma

(International News Service)

RANGOON, Jan. 17.—Japanese troops pushing into Burma from Thailand have been checked in a sharp battle at Midta, 15 miles inside the Burma border, it was revealed today.

The clash between British and Japanese troops took place in the Tenasserim region roughly 250 miles southeast of Rangoon. Informed quarters said it appeared likely that the Jap forces were attempting to push across the narrow Tenasserim area to reach Tavoy, rich tin mining center 35 miles to the west.

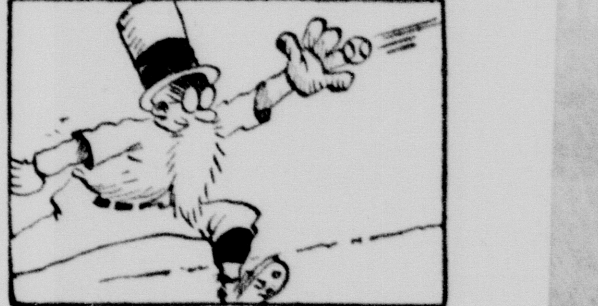

If the Japanese are moving on Tavoy they face serious difficulties, it was said in reaching the tin-mining center. A range of mountains, 3,000 feet high and said to be almost impassable, bars the way.

The town of Tavoy lies 30 miles from the sea, on the river of the same name, a navigable stream.

Plan To Build 630 More Ships

Maritime Commission Will Add Huge Number Of Merchant Ships To
U. S. Service

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The maritime commission today announced a $1,780,000,000 program to build 630 additional merchant ships in 1942 and 1943.

Capt. H. L. Vickery of the commission said the program was organized in response to President Roosevelt's request that 8,000,000 dead-weight tons of shipping go down the ways in the next two years.

The number of ships to be built in the next two years will total more than 2,000, as 1,400 seagoing vessels had been planned for construction before the President's order for an enlarged program.

"We know that it is physically possible to meet the President's mandate," Captain Vickery said, "provided materials are on the sites at the time when required and that labor is willing to put its shoulder to the wheel."

Pacific Fleet In Action Over Wide Battle Area

By RALPH JORDAN

ABOARD A MAN-O-WAR WITH THE U. S. PACIFIC FLEET, Jan. 17.—United States naval forces in the Pacific are hitting the Japanese wherever they can find them.

This cruiser on which this dispatch is being written today is part of a formidable naval force engaged in a broad sweep of Pacific waters.

There have been thrilling moments of action.

Our planes observed one Jap submarine floating lazily on the surface to the west and unloaded heavy depth charges on him.

From this ship's communication bridge we saw a destroyer race for another point. And a few moments later the boom of the destroyer's depth charges came echoing back to us.

It is not permitted to reveal the results of these attacks.

But it is possible to state that the officers and men of this fleet are in wonderful spirits and health.

The sick bay of this ship is empty, despite the fact the vessel is jammed beyond its normal complement and the men are standing long watches at the guns.

The excellent health is maintained through strict and speedy isolation of anyone who shows a sign of illness, and strict sterilization of all dishes and cooking utensils.

Your correspondent has watched American naval guns of various calibers firing—and they are hitting what they are shooting at.

But the targets cannot be revealed.

Price-Fixing Bill Compromise Seen

Administration Plan Is Pushed

Leaders Believe That President Will Win His Fight On Measure

FARM PRICES ARE CONTROVERSY CAUSE

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Administration leaders on Capitol Hill today expressed confidence that President Roosevelt will win his fight against enactment of a price-fixing bill which might permit a sharp rise in the cost of living, while conceding some compromises must be granted to overcome the farm revolt in congress.

Although both house and senate were in adjournment over the week end, congressional conferees met today in an effort to reach agreement on the price-fixing bill. A final accord by Monday or Tuesday was forecast by Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, one of the senate conferees.

Seek To Kill Provision
President Roosevelt's followers on the conference committee were battling to kill the O'Mahoney-Russell provision, written into the bill by a rebellious senate at the instance of its farm bloc leaders. This provision would let farm prices be charged to levels, and its opponents charged it would permit a 20 per cent or higher increase in the cost of living.

The president also opposed the Bankhead amendment, likewise adopted by the senate, which would give Secretary of Agriculture Wickard power to veto any change in farm commodity prices. Administrationists however, indicated this provision might be accepted by the conferees as a measure of compromise to pacify the farm bloc.

New War Powers Bill
A new war powers bill meanwhile was introduced in the senate as both branches planned action next week on other war legislation. The program includes:

1. Senate and house approval of a conference report on the bill authorizing a $100,000,000 fund for civilian defense, with the house ready to reverse its former vote giving the war department power to spend the money.

2. Senate action, about Tuesday, on a house bill giving the federal communications commission authority to take over the communications for military purposes.

cloak of secrecy over operations of Admiral Thomas C. Hart's Asiatic fleet. In the absence of further details concerning the sinkings, experts were unable to determine the exact direction in which the Japanese boats were cruising. They conjectured, however, that the vessels were engaged in hauling reinforcements to one of the battle areas.

Observers unanimously agreed after studying the navy's terse communique that less of the five ships, irrespective of their destination, was a sledge-hammer blow to Japan's general war plan. They explained that Nippon now is engaged on such a far-flung front that men and means to maneuver them over vast expanses of ocean are an utmost necessity to the Japanese.

The ever-growing danger in store for Japan was brought more sharply into relief by recapitulation of American naval successes since the war began.

Jap Losses Grow
Destruction of the transport and cargo bottoms came only a day after the navy sank a 17,000-ton merchant ship. In all, the Navy and Marine Corps have destroyed 24 Japanese vessels, and in addition, army air bombers have sunk five more enemy boats in the Pacific arena. Altogether, Japan has lost 29 ships since the Kikad plunged his nation into war last Dec. 7.

The navy also authorized distribution of a report that the Colimba, a 6,768-ton tanker flying the flag of one of the ABCD powers, was attacked and presumably sunk by an enemy submarine 100 miles off New York.

The submarine situation along the northeast coast of the United States remains unchanged, the naval communique stated.

The Colimba was the second victim of a submarine, probably a German U-boat, within two days.

Foiled in their plan to smash resistance of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's troops in the Philippines, the Japs have turned to their veteran advance units in an effort to infiltrate defense lines in north Bataan.

While looting and devastating occupied areas of the islands, the Japanese also brought its dive bombers and attack planes into action against MacArthur's positions, the war department announced.

Correct this sentence: "You'd better learn my profession," said the father, "for you'll find no easier job."

civilian flying boat which had carried them across the ocean from Bermuda.

Before leaving Plymouth, presumably for London, Churchill told reporters he had enjoyed a comfortable journey.

Flies 3,287 Miles
Churchill said he had flown 3,287 miles in 18 hours.

The prime minister was wearing a peaked naval cap and a blue overcoat upon his arrival at Plymouth. Missing, however, was the usually present cigar.

In high spirits, Churchill talked with Viscount Astor, Lord Mayor of Plymouth, who welcomed him.

His departure from Plymouth was delayed 20 minutes as temporary loss of a large black bag. Supply Minister Lord Beaverbrook, who accompanied the premier, and other distinguished members of the party joined in the worried search for the bag, which eventually was found.

Arrival Is Surprise
Churchill's arrival in Britain came as a complete surprise to the public. There had been no previous announcement of his departure from the United States.

Others accompanying the prime minister included Admiral Sir Dudley Pound and Air Marshal Charles Portal.

The first intimation anyone had Churchill was returning was the Downing street announcement that he already was in England.

The manner of his crossing and the port of his arrival were a complete surprise.

Because of his well known aversion to flying, it had been expected Churchill would cross the ocean by ship and arrive at some northern port.

"On the western part of the front the enemy succeeded in getting a footing on the south bank of the Muar river."

"Reports now received show that raids made by enemy aircraft on Singapore yesterday caused no damage or casualties."

"Yesterday fighter and bomber aircraft of the Far East command carried out further attacks on enemy transports on the Gemas-Tampin road. They destroyed a large number of vehicles and damaged others."

Attack On Troop Barges
"Fighter aircraft delivered a successful attack on launches and barges laden with troops near the mouth of the Muar river."

"One of the launches blew up and heavy casualties were inflicted on the personnel of the barges."

"This morning our aircraft attacked enemy shipping off Malacca. Bombs were dropped on a two-masted vessel which was seen enveloped in spray. Another was heavily machine-gunned."

"Severe damage was inflicted on a large concentration of small craft. Transport vehicles between Kling and Malacca were shot up by our fighters."

"Enemy aircraft raided the Singapore area today. About 20 aircraft participated in the first attack and more than 50 in the second. One enemy plane was shot down and two probably were shot down and two were damaged by our fighters."

"Preliminary reports show civilian casualties were about 150."

Major Battle Near

The communique was issued after expectations arose for a major battle between the Jap invaders and the British and Australian defenders.

Meanwhile, the Aussies at the front still were harrying the Japanese.

The anticipated fight probably will occur along the Power line, defenses, believed to be between 80 and 100 miles north of Singapore.

Latest indications were that the Japs have been halted dead in their tracks after meeting up with the hard-bitten Australians, who are credited with inflicting 200 casualties on the Japanese in their first engagement.

During the past few days heavy rains that have inundated the Malayan jungles and quagmired the roads have allowed the British more time to consolidate their positions and equip their troops, which suffered losses in the recent heavy fighting.

The foul weather also has minimized the activities of Jap bombers and reconnaissance aircraft.

than 300,000 German troops have been surrounded in the Crimea and in the Mozhaisk salient.

Pierce Nazi Lines

The noon high command communique said the Soviet forces continued operations throughout the night.

According to the Red army newspaper Red Star, Russian offensive operations were developing successfully on all sectors of the central (Moscow) front. In one sector, the paper said, the Russians pierced the Nazi lines and pressed forward relentlessly, broadening the breach.

German forces counter-attacked furiously, but "the Soviets repelled them and advanced over the dead bodies of the attackers," said Red Star.

East of Mozhaisk the Russians were reported continuing fierce frontal attacks. Red Star said the Russians also were advancing toward Novgorod and that there were unconfirmed reports that Stavka Russia below Lake Imaen on the northern front has been recaptured.

To the south savage battles were reported raging around Kursk, where Russians were reported using a new type Anglo-American design "low flying, two-seater armored bomber," said the communique.

In the Crimea, the paper said, liberated areas already are returning to their normal existence.

Reports from Stockholm said the Russian armies in the Crimea were threatening the Simferopol-Melitopol railway in toward Sarabuz, capture of which would cut off the possibility of a Nazi retreat to the mainland via the Perekop isthmus.

The Russian midnight communique said:

Mrs. Amata Mary Pandolfi, John Iatonna, all of New Castle, six grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Victoria Tam, and one brother, Victor, the family will receive friends at the funeral home this evening from 7 to 9 and Sunday afternoon and evening from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 o'clock.

launches and barges loaded with troops near the mouth of the Muar river.

Likewise, severe damage was inflicted on Japanese shipping off Malacca, the war bulletin stated.

"Throughout yesterday contact with the enemy was slight on the eastern part of the front, activity on both sides being confined mainly to patrols," the British communique said.

"Artillery was active during the day, harassing the enemy's forward elements in Gemas."

"On the western part of the front the enemy succeeded in getting a footing on the south bank of the Muar river."

EDNA LEE BOOKER WILL ADDRESS WOMAN'S CLUB

The Woman's Club counts among its fortunate days, Monday, January 19, when it brings to its lecture platform in the Highland church at 2:30 p. m., Edna Lee Booker, Virginia born far eastern correspondent for the International News Service and feature writer for the China Press.

Her career as reporter for the Los Angeles Herald and the San Francisco Call was climaxed by the appointment to "cover" the news in Shanghai. One of the first women to serve as war correspondents, Miss Booker's experiences include interviews with war lords and guerrillas and even that of covering a battle under guard of 12 Chinese soldiers and 2 amazons.

Bo-Ai-Li is the name by which Miss Booker is known to her Chinese associates. It means Precious Lotus.

Miss Booker is considered an authority on the historical background of China as well as on conditions as they developed today. She has many notable Chinese women as personal friends.

In private life, this famed woman correspondent on one of the most difficult "beats" in the world—the Orient, is Mrs. John Potter, wife of a prominent real estate dealer in Shanghai. Her lecture topic is "News Is My Job."

Mrs. A. H. Borland and Mrs. Joseph Leyde will serve as hostesses for the day.

Observe Golden Wedding Wednesday, January 21

MR. AND MRS. CHAS. F. ALBORN

To commemorate their golden wedding anniversary, a well-known couple of this vicinity, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Alborn of R. D. 4, will hold open house at their home on Wednesday, January 21, 1942, from 2 to 4 in the afternoon and from 8 to 10 in the evening.

Relatives and close friends will be entertained at a noon dinner on that day. The immediate family will be present for dinner in the evening at 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Alborn were married January 21, 1892, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Weinschenk, Shenandoah township, by Rev. Charles G. Glatzer, pastor of the Lutheran church in New Castle at that time. Attendants at their wedding were Miss Matilda Alborn and W. H. Weinschenk.

Mr. and Mrs. Alborn have a host of friends and acquaintances in New Castle and vicinity who will join them for their celebration on January 21 during the reception hours.

They went to housekeeping at Cascade Roller Mills, of which Mr. Alborn was manager for 21 years. After this they moved to their home at the dairy farm near East Brook where they now live. Both Mr. and Mrs. Alborn enjoy fairly good health.

The Alborns' eight children and eight grandchildren will be present for their parents' 50th wedding anniversary. These are: E. H. Alborn and Mrs. E. E. Brown of New Castle; Carl L. and George W. of R. D. 4; Ralph P. of McKeesport; Norman L. of R. D. 5, and Carrie and Clara at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Alborn have a host of friends and acquaintances in New Castle and vicinity who will join them for their celebration on January 21 during the reception hours.

BIRTHDAYS HONORED AT P. F. F. MEETING

At the regular meeting of the P. F. F. club which took place in the home of Mrs. P. J. Callahan on English avenue, Thursday evening, the birthday anniversaries of two of their number, Mrs. Samuel Carr and Mrs. George Gibson were honored. Each received a shower of personal gifts.

Division was found in three tables of 500, prizes going to Mrs. Frank Hays, Mrs. Samuel Carr and Mrs. Harry Buckley. The door trophy fell to Mrs. Louis Krueger and the "galloper" went to Mrs. Buckley.

A delicious repast was served at the close, and plans were made to meet again on Thursday, January 29, with Mrs. William Gilroy of Beaver street.

C. D. OF A. CHARITY PARTY IS ENJOYED

Another in the series of charity card parties was held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the K. of C. Home, North Jefferson street.

Bridge was in play, and capturing prizes were Mrs. Thomas Valley and Mrs. Elizabeth O'Donnell. Prizes for 500 were won by Mrs. Vera Roimer and Mrs. Delia Johnson.

Dainty refreshments were served later. Assisting Mrs. A. Callahan, chairman, were Mrs. Charlotte Confer and Mrs. Jack Hannon. Another party will be held on Friday, January 23.

V. F. W. Auxiliary

Members of the Corporal McBride Auxiliary, No. 522, Veterans of Foreign Wars, met Thursday evening in the V. F. W. home, on Grant street, with Mrs. Margaret Folts in charge.

The group made plans for a knitting class to be started next Friday evening, Jan. 23. Mrs. Bertha Fowler was named chairman of the knitting class and for the Victory book campaign. The auxiliary sent a donation to the orphans of Pennsylvania who are at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

This auxiliary is collecting books and magazines for soldiers, it was announced at the meeting.

Tri-County Council will meet in New Castle with Post 522 on Thursday, Feb. 12.

M. P. C. Club.

Mrs. Carl Gaston of 424 her home on Raymond street, Friday evening, to members of the M. P. C. club for their regular meeting.

Michigan provided the pastime, high prizes going to the hostess and to Mrs. Ed McCrane. At a suitable hour, the hostess served a delicious repast.

The next regular meeting will be in two weeks with Mrs. Ed McCrane of Crawford avenue as hostess.

JENKINS-DAVIS ENGAGEMENT TOLD

Mrs. Frank Reynolds, of 311 Northview avenue, announces the engagement of her niece, Beatrice Jenkins to Bradford L. Davis, son of the late Attorney Robert M. Davis, of Tacoma, Washington.

Both Miss Jenkins and her fiancé are in service with the U. S. Navy and have been stationed at Pearl Harbor, she as a nurse with the navy, and he as a naval engineer on aircraft carrier duty.

Miss Jenkins graduated from the New Castle Hospital School Of Nursing. She has been in navy service for six years.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Friendship Society

Friendship Missionary society members of the Peoples Mission on Sampson street, gathered in the home of Mrs. Emma Owey on Grant street, Friday, when she entertained jointly with Mrs. John Cameron and Mrs. Ed Dunt. Mrs. Archie Gibson was a special guest.

Twenty-two participated, and they had as speaker, Mrs. E. J. Fredericks, wife of the pastor, who gave an interesting religious "flam-nelgram."

After a short song service, they planned their next assembly for Thursday, February 19, with Mrs. Mabel Johnson on Bell avenue. She will have as co-hostesses, Mrs. Herman Byler and Mrs. Charles Morgan.

Young Ladies Class

Members of the Young Ladies Bible class, Italian Methodist church, met Friday evening in the home of Rosetta Caravaggio, Hanna street, with Mrs. P. Sulmonetti conducting devotions.

A special reading was presented by Mary Metta, after which the time was spent in making scrap-books.

ONE-MAN CONTROL

WIDESPREAD public as well as congressional sentiment about war production was summed up in a phrase of Senator Tom Connally of Texas, who said that the situation demanded a "double-fisted, hard-boiled and iron-tongued man to run it."

The man turns out to be Donald Nelson, to whom, as head of a new War Production Board, President Roosevelt intrusts one-man control of all procurement of materials and production of arms, ships, tanks and planes for the fighting forces of the United Nations.

Mr. Nelson will be responsible to no one but the president. It is planned to have an Allied council to coordinate production and supplies. Mr. Nelson, in short, will be the "opposite number" of Britain's Lord Beaverbrook, who had been able to find one in Washington, other than Mr. Roosevelt, with whom he could discuss production and supplies on equal terms.

Thus, after painful and prolonged confusion, the cost of which in lost time, lost effort and lost weapons cannot be estimated, President Roosevelt has done what might have been done months ago, if President Wilson's experience in the First World War had been heeded. That it has been done now is a victory for those who have called for one-man production control from the inception of the arsenal-of-democracy program.

It is plain that without effective production no grand strategic plan for the Allies can become effective. Without effective production billions of dollars can be wasted, thousands of lives lost, the war indefinitely prolonged. Mr. Nelson's task is a great one, but he will be backed by overwhelming public desire to see the job done and done right.

War production has passed through several preliminary stages and is now about to be speeded to an all-out basis.

MEN WHO FIGHT ON TO THE DEATH

That was a strange picture, somewhere in a mountain fastness of Serbia, ex-Major Mikhailovitch, now a general, placed his hand on a Greek Bible and, taking his oath of office as Yugoslavia's minister of war, swore to serve "unto death."

This is the soldier who drew together all the fierce and determined men—also resolved to fight "to the death"—who could be marshalled from the rout after Hitler's remorseless thrust against his country. The sneering Nazis left a force of Italians and Croats to mop him up. That failed.

They sent a division of their own troops: three, then four—and those divisions have been thrown back. It is called "winter retirement." Mikhailovitch and his troops have worked wonders. They fought and won on their own soil. It was fitting that the Yugoslav government in exile named him, at long range, to carry on that fight.

It is a desperate undertaking. Mikhailovitch and the Chetniks are capable of discharging it. They represent the germ of what will come over thousands of miles of Europe, when opportunity presents itself at last to the raging, downtrodden peoples who only await their day to help smash Hitler, his Gestapo and his Quislings.

TWO SIDES OF A HUGE TASK

Without in the least depreciating the vital importance of the vast flood of planes, tanks, guns and other munitions the nation is called upon to supply, Lieutenant General Ben Lear, commander of the Second Army, does well to emphasize the equal importance of the trained, hardened soldier imbued with the indomitable will to win. General Lear's declaration that "equipment does not fight" is certainly at least half the story of modern warfare.

This Army commander was talking to his own soldiers, but over their heads to nearly 2,000,000 others and at least an additional 2,000,000 who will soon find themselves in training camps. What he says is strongly supported by the record of American fighting men who have come to grips with the Japs.

It wasn't equipment alone, for example, that enabled the Marines to hold out for two weeks at Wake Island, sink seven Jap ships and exact a high price for its capture. Certainly that could have used a great deal more equipment than they had. But back of their stand was precisely that fighting spirit which, as General Lear says, overcomes tremendous difficulties.

He reminds American soldiers that there will always be times when the enemy is superior in equipment or numbers. What the Army is seeking to do is to turn out soldiers who possess what it takes to win against odds. However, it's our job to see to it that they have the weapons, too.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

SCRAP IRON NEEDED

With record war production scheduled, the situation in the United States with respect to the shortage in iron and steel scrap demands quick and effective action. In steel ingot production 20 per cent scrap must be mixed with the ore.

Consumption of scrap in America last year reached 54,000,000 tons, an increase of 11,000,000 tons over 1940. Much of this came from the steel companies in the form of left-overs from finished production.

Now a large tonnage of steel ingot and semi-finished production is going to Britain and elsewhere. That makes considerable potential scrap with it.

Railroads and industrial plants have been helping out in an important way and without their aid steel ingot curtailment would have started months ago. As it is only a few furnaces have closed down for want of scrap. But a larger collection program is needed and this will probably center in the farms.

It is estimated that each American farm has 750 to 1,000 pounds of scrap iron available. The problem is to get the machinery of collection and grading to work. If shortage of scrap becomes more acute farmers may be asked to bring their waste metal to collection points.

America has not exhausted its reserves of scrap iron, but for the moment the facilities that keep it flowing to the furnaces are proving inadequate to the great task that has been thrust upon them.

The United States will spend $5,000,000,000 a month to defeat the Axis. That money will talk in the language the Jap and the Nazi can understand.

In our opinion the worst place to spend Easter will be Tokio.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FATHERS CAN TEACH SONS HANDICRAFTS

"DEAR DR. MYERS: I write you in reference to your column about a child's workshop."

"My son is almost five years old and very talented in handicraft work. I have been eager for him to learn manual training as early as possible, but did not know how to assemble the necessary tools, or how to begin."

"However, my problem is not concerned with my son so much as it is how to get father and son on a common ground. My husband has no use for hand work of any kind, other than dealing a deck of cards or figuring out a racing form. He is generous with his money for all of us, but not with his time, and my son is too young to enjoy his dad's sports. The two are losing so many years chance of becoming intimately acquainted with each other."

Want Dad To Join

"Now by what miracle of miracles can Son and I get Dad to join us? Son and I have told Dad enthusiastically of our plans, and he, knowing I will be there pounding nails and planing wood, has already resigned."

"Nevertheless, Son and I want a workshop, and hope you will suggest a list of tools and beginning articles to make. It's a sensible hobby, and one which we will enjoy. A self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it is enclosed for your convenience."

The Doctor's Reply

Here is how I answered her: "You are right, Dad should do things with his boy and spend more time with him. But don't figure on making your husband over. If, indeed, you keep harping on the matter, you will make the father grow even less interested in this workshop."

"If you prove to be handy with tools yourself, don't display your skill with too much show, else Dad will feel even more inferior in respect to handicraft."

"I have a little sympathy for Dad. He feels awkward about using tools, therefore inferior in relation to a workshop. I know this, for I am so myself, while Mrs. Myers excels in that direction. Nevertheless, both my boys made things from wood quite a while ago and built up quite a workshop before they went to college. Often they spent hours and hours there, learning things with other boys. I learned to admire their achievements, while visiting with them."

Simple Outfit at First

"Perhaps Dad can find many other things he'll enjoy doing with his son. Moreover you might, through some friend of his, be able to induce Dad to spend more time with his son."

"Don't begin too ambitiously. Get good tools. Begin with a hammer, saw, vice, preferably as part of workbench. Add a plane and gimlet, adding later a brace and bit. For easy things to make, you will get some ideas from books on the subject, and some of the magazines for younger children. A graded list of toys and books is enclosed."

Solving Parent Problems
Q. Can a maid cause bad behavior in a tot from two to six?
A. Yes; and if she continues to do so she should be dismissed no matter how efficient in other respects she may be.

Q. Is it not a mistake to let the older child discipline the younger?
A. Yes; let him know that when either parent or another responsible person is present he shall assume no responsibility for the discipline of his younger brother or sister. The same should apply to grandparents, maid, guests and other relatives.

Just Folks

ONE FOR ALL

What if we differed yesterday, with danger at the door,
We're one and all for one and all,
The family whole for one more;
We like to argue this and that and question pro and con,
But trouble finds us one for all and all of us for one.

We'll quarrel some in days of peace, but don't be fooled by that,
Don't think the family's broken when we knock each other flat;
For should some bully come along and strike our youngest small,
Before he'd launch a second blow he'd have to fight us all.

We're full of sects and creeds and groups, with notions old and new,
And some like this and some like that and part, as families do;
But though we differ 'mong ourselves, when back against the wall,
You'll always find us all for one and every one for all.

Bible Thought For Today

Wealth, fame, power, popularity should not be worshipped. They always fail miserably in the end; And the residue thereof he maketh a god, even his graven image; he falleth down unto it and worshippeth it, and prayeth unto it, and saith, Deliver me from thou art my god.—Isaiah 44:17.

Might as well fight to the death. Years in a Jap prison, on starvation rations, would be a harder way to die.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:00. Sun rises tomorrow 7:19.

A lot of busy people are working hard to raise the Red Cross fund. This money is always used to do a lot of good for people who deserve it. If you have not been seen yet get in touch with the Red Cross office and do your part.

Stealing an automobile tire now will be classed something like stealing a horse used to be. Of course there are not so many trees to hang thieves on now.

It may surprise you to learn that there are a lot of people in this country who have never seen snow. You will find hundreds of them in Florida.

WATERMELON NOT A NATIVE

Many jokes have been made at the expense of the colored man's love for watermelon. As a matter of fact, the black man was probably eating watermelon long before the white man overheard of it. It is a native of Africa and may be found growing wild on plains south of the Sahara where it is an important part of the diet of deer and antelope of that region. It is believed that Pilgrims brought the first watermelon seeds to America for less than 10 years after their coming. Melons were plentiful in Massachusetts. It found favor with the Indians at once. By 1665 the Florida Indians were cultivating it and 10 years later tribes of the West.

You will find many times that people who think they are pretty smart are not so smart when they have to decide something of real importance.

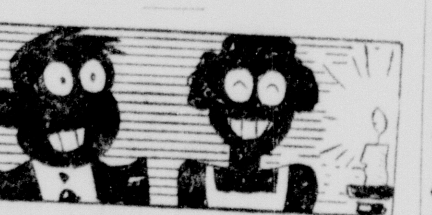

The shortest days of the year are the three days of grace.

Statistics show that red, white and blue get more cheers than all the rest of the colors put together.

Leo was up at the school where they were studying Greek mythology the other day and when he passed by one classroom he swears he overheard this little chat:
Teacher: Who was Helen of Troy?
Johnny: I don't know.
Little Teddy: I know, teacher. A woman.

Wonder if the livery stables will come back. They kept horses in them.

It is claimed that most people don't use their minds enough to keep them healthy. No one has said anything about not using a mouth enough. We have known of mouths causing black eyes.

Strange is the perversity of man. He invents electric lights so he can see what he is eating and then puts on style by using candles so he can't.

A determined young lady tells us she will meet the stocking problem by not wearing any. And probably there are tens of thousands of others who also have pretty legs.

When people owe money to almost everybody their credit is good.

The moon was high
The road was dark
A perfect place
To stop and park.
He gave a curse
He gave a groan,
He gave a grunt—
He was alone.

One can tell these days when people have wood fires in their homes by just seeing the wood piled on the front porch.

DISCRIMINATING JURY
The defendant had pleaded guilty but the jury acquitted him just the same. "What," roared the judge on hearing the verdict, "after he had confessed. 'We took that in account,'" replied the foreman, "but every member of this jury knows what a liar he is."

"What is you doing now, Sam?" asked one chap to another.
"I am an exportah," was the answer.
"An exportah, eh?"
"Yeah, I was fired by de pulman company."

Now when you change a tire you have to do it out in the open where everybody can see you. If you do it in an alley no doubt a policeman will see you.

Maybe some day when you buy a tire the dealer will throw in the automobile.

Man is pretty smart, yet it took him years to invent a can opener that would meet the necessity of rapid-fire cooking.

BUSYBODIES

One of the many sweet young things who confide their troubles to me had a terrific pout on this afternoon because whenever she calls on a favorite aunt the newly family with whom the old lady boards with around licking their chops for such scraps of family history as the visiting niece may let drop. If the latter had a car, she could solve her troublesome problems by whizzing auntie far from the maddening busybodies. But because her elderly relatives heart won't endure a walk about the neighborhood, they must sit either in the living room with the inquisitive householders or up in auntie's little bedroom whose every detail they both know, have ears in that listening house. All of which makes us wish to remark that this particular brand of snoops belong to the "Class A" brand of human pests.

Question: Don't you think it uncomplimentary, rather than the opposite, as intended, when someone says "you certainly keep young looking?" It has happened to me so often I feel that I should begin to look decrepit.
Answer: It is meant for a compliment. I know, although when you are on the receiving end, you rarely take it as such. Age is such a personal and delicate subject, especially among women, that it is always safe to avoid all reference to it.

Question: When an engaged girl has no parents, is it all right for the groom's family to announce the impending marriage?
Answer: The announcement must come from the family of the prospective bride. If she has no parents, her nearest relative should assume this responsibility. Under no circumstances should the announcement come from the family of the prospective bridegroom.

Question: Is menu correctly pronounced men-o-o? I have frequently heard it pronounced thus. Also what about day-hoo (debut) and am-a-chur (amateur)?
Answer: The correct pronunciations are (1) men-you; (2) day-bu as in "beauty"; a-ma-ter.

RIDDLES

Why is rain different from Sunday?—Because it can fall on any day of the week.

Why is a tight boot like an oak tree?—Because it produces a corn (acorn).

Why is an Irish city likely to be the largest in the world?—Because it is always Dublin (doubling).

What word of five letters has only one left if you take away two?—Stone.

What is it you cannot hold for ten minutes, although it is lighter than a feather?—Your breath.

What trade is the sun?—A tanner.

Why is coffee like a dull knife?—Because it has to be ground.

What happens twice in a moment and not once in a thousand years?—The letter M.

How many sides has a tree?—Two: inside and outside.

What is the longest word in the English language?—Smiles; because there is a mile between the first and last letters.

When is a merchant above his business?—When he lives over his shop.

The hardest job in Washington just now seems to be finding new ways of getting more taxes.

A modern philosopher offers this trick to anybody who can do it. Let the wrinkles of age be the footpaths of the smiles that have crossed your face.

Wonder what the farmer thinks when he gets up at four o'clock in the morning and goes to bed at ten o'clock about the eight hour day and five day week.

MAKING A BEAR
An old negro preacher down in Arkansas, as Tom McNeal tells the story, who could neither read nor write, had to depend upon his daughter to read the Scriptures for him.

One day she read the story of Nahor and his wife Milcah. The names of their seven sons were listed, closing with the statement that "The seven sons did Milcah bear to Nahor."

That struck the pastor as a bully text. "Brethren and sisters," he announced the next Sunday, "one trouble with this perverse generation is that they don't appreciate their blessings." You can get up in the morning and call on the cow and say "So, Bossy, and then Jes milk into a pail and tote it to the house but in them days they had to 'pend on wild beast for milk and believe me it was some job."

"My text this morning gives an idea of the trouble they had in getting milk for family use. It says, 'giving the names of the seven boys of old man Nahor. These seven did milk a bear.' I ask you, brethren and sisters, Jes' s'posin' you had to go out and ketch a bear every morning and milk it before breakfast? What would you be at?"

It is quite a distinction to be a dollar-a-year man on the government claim.

Take men like Gene Tunney. They get a great deal of respectful acclaim. Gene Tunney is teaching service men how to keep fit—for a buck a year; and wherever he goes, Gene is interviewed and photographed and regarded admiringly.

But since it is a great honor to be one of two hundred eighty-eight dollar-a-year men, what a colossal distinction has come to a certain California lady, Mable!

She is now deputy director of the Office of Civilian Defense, in charge of national fitness for women—and she is the only dollar-a-year woman in the U. S. A. She has to help sell all the distinction which the dollar-a-year man must split two hundred eighty-eight ways.

That is a load of responsibility for the slim shoulders of California's tennis queen. Wonder if she'll say to the ladies: "Just do as I tell you girls—and you'll all look like me."

AET To Dakar Might Be Logical Move
No Need For Manpower In Europe Yet
Allied Powers Need Planes And Tanks

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—An American Expeditionary Force of land fighters wouldn't have any great utility on European soil at present, any more than it would in Asia, in the opinion of Washington's military authorities generally.

China, on the Asiatic side, has men enough of its own.

Russia's numerical resources, being included, the anti-Axis nations' manpower, on terra firma, isn't madequate in the European direction.

For Yankee guns, ammunition and other wartime supplies, of course, Britain, Russia, the Chinese and the East Indian Dutch clamor incessantly. They all need our naval aid, too. Our merchant shipping's invaluable to 'em also. Their demands on us for American aviators likewise are insatiable. We have, additionally some grounding army specialists, in various lines, who could be in their midst, very helpful to them, but not in sufficient numbers to be described, collectively, as an AEF.

If we could send such bodies of troops as simply to swamp the totalitarianism, naturally they'd be infinitely welcome to the anti-Axis forces. However, that would be a practical impossibility. Besides, it probably would so deplete us as to reduce our capacity for military supplies' production, and the anti-Axis folks' necessity for having us maintain that at a maximum is more urgent than their need for a large-sized soldiery, unless the increase could be huge beyond the bounds of availability.

It's recognized that a few "token" AEF outfits might be good for anti-Axis morale. However, a token isn't the genuine article.

Time Not Ripe Yet

The real thing may be in order, to help 'em, if and when countries like France and the smaller democracies, now under the Axis thumb, are ripe for revolt against its pressure. But that time hasn't come yet. Presumably it will as soon as the Axis starts to crumble. Thus far it hasn't begun to do so—unless Herr Hitler's reverses in Russia are the beginning of it. It'll take a bit longer to estimate that situation's proportions as an anti-Axis asset.

An AEF to Japan is discussed more or less, but the consensus is that the Japs can be better attended to by naval and aviatorial than by a land invasion of their islands. If they're bottled up by sea and mercilessly bombed from overhead at home, competent strategists predict that they shortly will peter out in the Philippines and as a menace to the Dutch Indies, Australasia and (Continued On Page Five)

Propaganda And Morale

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17

IN Washington these days the word morale is often used when what is actually meant is propaganda. Perhaps they mean pretty much the same thing. Certainly morale is defined as a state of mind, and propaganda is clearly designed to create a state of mind. The confusion here is not so much due to the words as it is to the fact that there are too many agencies charged with building morale through propaganda.

THEY get in each other's way. They duplicate effort, increase expense and minimize the effect because they lack coordination and a single directing head. At the moment the task of promoting the national morale appears to be divided among a number of agencies. Two of these have received an almost identical assignment from the President, but the others have just assumed responsibility and are busily pegging away in an independent effort to win the war by publicity. It is hardly necessary to say that they are not making very much progress.

A. Lewis Conn Is Appointed

Succeeds Ross As Chief Clerk Of Permanent Registration Bureau Of County

A. Lewis Conn, at present clerk to the City Draft Board Number One, was today named chief clerk to the permanent registration bureau and graves registrar, effective February 1. The appointment was made shortly before noon by County Commissioners William R. Walton, George H. Bollinger and Joseph F. Travers. Mr. Conn succeeds Charles D. Ross who is now the county detective.

Mr. Conn is an ex-service man, serving with the 109th Machine Gun Battalion of the 28th Division. In service organizations he has been active in the Society of the 28th Division and the American Legion. He is a past national commander of the Society of the 28th Division and a past commander of the Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 343, American Legion.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

OPEN BOARD MEETING

Y. W. C. A. members are being invited to attend an open board meeting of Y. W. C. A. directors on Tuesday, January 20, from 7:30 to 9 p. m.

After a short business meeting, girls of the Y. W. C. A. business girls club will present a program of activities of their clubs. The Elm street branch chairman and club officers will tell of the work of the branch for colored women and girls. Question and discussions will follow.

MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE

Plans for the annual Y. W. C. A. membership ingathering were discussed when members of the Membership Committee met at the Y. W. C. A. Friday afternoon.

Mrs. J. W. Balentine is chairman, Mrs. A. B. Fankhauser, co-chairman, and Miss Blanche Bright, secretary.

Dates for the ingathering decided upon were: Opening dinner, Thursday, February 26; report meetings, Wednesday, March 4, Wednesday, March 11, at 11:30 a. m., following Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine's Lenten Bible classes.

Work cards will be given out at the opening dinner. Each church chairman was urged to secure a good sized team as soon as possible so that no one will need to see more than ten cards. Out of town members are to be written to in order that their renewals can be back during the ingathering.

An invitation was extended to each team worker and to all Y. W. C. A. members to attend an open Y. W. C. A. board of directors meeting next Tuesday evening at 7:30 where the Business Girls club will report on who their members are, why they joined a "Y" club and what they get from their clubs, also, something about club programs and social and service activities. The Elm street branch will also tell about the different groups of colored women and girls who meet at the branch.

Announcement was made of several new Red Cross classes which are to be held in the Y. W. C. A. on the second floor. First aid classes start next Wednesday and Thursday evenings, with knitting on Tuesday evenings and cutting on Thursday evenings.

Mention was also made of a musical tea to be held at the home of Mrs. J. Norman Martin, Mercer and Grant streets, Thursday, January 22, from 2 to 5 p. m., for the benefit of the auditorium reconstruction work.

News Briefs From City Hall

Relatives of Jacob Shook, age 65, of Quest street, who was a member of Troop F at one time, are considerably worried over his disappearance. He left home January 3, according to a police report and it is feared he may have met with an accident. Authorities have been asked to conduct an exhaustive search for the man who is well known here. He is described as follows: Age, 65; height, 5 ft. 11 in.; hair, gray, bald on top; suit coat, blue; sweater, blue and green; trousers, blue; low black shoes; wears spectacles but no overcoat.

Richard Mauldin, Moravia street, reported to police his bicycle, reportedly stolen recently, was found along the Big Run.

Director of Finance James L. Fink who has been indisposed was at his desk today where friends were glad to welcome his return to city hall.

Margaret M. Orris, 507 West Washington street, has received a permit from the city bureau of building to make alterations to the dwelling at that address.

Through the efforts of Constable Ben Pritchard, State Motor police and the city detectives three youths, Charles Elias, Hamilton street, Paul Audino, East Long avenue and Mustapha Hassan, Fairview avenue, were being quizzed today relative to several burglaries in January. According to the city detectives chief, E. A. Criswell, they confessed entering Nesbitt's market, East Long avenue; Thompson Service station, South Mill street; Bordenaro & Canfora fruit warehouse and the Firestone company, North Mill street. All sorts of articles were reportedly stolen in addition to cash from Nesbitt's market, amounting to more than $500.

Chief of Police W. G. McMullen said they were on parole and would be given into the custody of Parole Officer J. M. Dunlap this afternoon.

Need Stenographers At Washington, D. C.

Stenographers—women and men—are needed in Washington.

So pressing is the need that the United States Civil Service commission today announced that it has ordered a personal representative here to conduct tests at senior high school Tuesday, January 20, at 7 p. m.

"Anyone who feels they can qualify can take the exam," Raymond J. Latah, head of the New Castle office of the United States Employment Service for Pennsylvania, (in Citizens Bank building) declared.

Details are: Women applicants must be between 18 and 53, men between 16 and 53. All must be prepared to be certified for duty in Washington (only Washington) within a week or so. Starting salaries will be $1,440 per year.

All applicants will be given a typing test, with a 96-words-a-minute speed desired, but with a 70-word rating allowed as passing.

Latah and other local office men will assist the federal men in giving the test. Applicants need only report at the school by 7.

Three Killed In Highway Crash

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17.—A two-car collision on Route 51, near the Westmoreland county line, today had cost the lives of three persons and left two others injured.

Those killed, all Negroes, were Sidney Newkirk, 40, Braddock; Elizabeth Evans, 25, East Pittsburgh; and Robert Martin, 36, Braddock, driver of one car. Olin Blair, R. D. 1, Vanderbilt, driver of the second car, was cut and bruised. James Erving, 40, Negro, Braddock, suffered arm and leg fractures.

IT REALLY HAPPENED

(International News Service) NORTHELD, Vt.—Homer C. Jerd, cafe owner, thought he had a "how you see it, now you don't" type of front lawn. Gazing from one of his cafe windows, while he was placidly partaking of a cup of coffee, Jerd suddenly saw a 14-foot section of his lawn and shrubbery disappear. Amazed, but not outdone, Jerd raced outside to investigate. He found that what appeared to be the roof of an old tavern wine cellar, covered for years, had weakened and caved in. The void in Jerd's lawn measured eight feet deep.

Pan-American Solidarity Seen

Believe All 21 American Nations Will Vote For Rupture With Axis

MINOR CHANGES IN RESOLUTION LIKELY

By PERCY FOSTER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 17.—Delegates to the Inter-American Conference have agreed to make certain minor changes in the resolution calling for severance of relations between the Axis powers and the 21 American republics. It was learned on good authority today.

These minor changes will be made as a concession to the Argentine delegation. It was emphasized, however, that the concession will in no way modify the ultimate effects of the measure.

A certain amount of confirmation for this view was found in the fact that Dr. Alberto Guani, foreign minister of Uruguay, will be in charge of drafting the resolution, although it was authored by the Colombian delegation.

Dr. Guani has been in the forefront of the delegates who have been trying to persuade Argentina to sign the resolution.

Despite yesterday's motion to recess until Monday, the sub-committee defense and economic problems went into session this morning. The former has nineteen resolutions under consideration, while the latter has twenty-six.

One proposal put forward by Chile is said to call for all nations to establish naval patrols to guard their coasts.

May Settle Dispute
It was reported earlier that a basis had been found to settle the century-old boundary dispute between Peru and Ecuador, which was one of the vexing problems before the conference.

The reported solution of the dispute will be presented to the conference at the opening session on Monday, it was said. It was developed largely by Sumner Welles, U. S. undersecretary of state, and Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, Brazilian foreign minister.

It appeared earlier, as the conference sessions closed for the week end that all 21 of the nations represented would vote for a formal rupture of diplomatic relations with the Axis powers. Welles had earlier called for such action as a means of preventing fifth column action in this hemisphere.

Argentina had appeared to be opposed to such action, but a message from Argentina's acting president, Roman S. Castillo, said his country will fulfill its obligation of solidarity with the other American nations.

"Argentina will stand by the United States and every other American republic in fulfillment of its pledges," the message declared. It was read by Dr. Aranha.

T. W. A. AIRLINER CRASH KILLS 22 NEAR LAS VEGAS

the ship crashed—reported the burning wreckage was unmistakably the missing T. W. A. airliner.

No Sign Of Life
He radioed that there was no sign of life in the area.

Clark Gable, actor-husband of Miss Lombard, immediately left by chartered plane for Las Vegas when he was informed of the tragedy.

Besides the film actress, others aboard the plane included her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Peters, Otto Winkler, movie publicity agent and close friend of the Gables, and a Mrs. Louis Hamilton of Detroit.

The army ferry command reported that the following air corps officers and men also were aboard the plane:

First Lieut. Frederick J. Dittman, First Lieut. Robert J. Crouch,

LOST HER LIFE IN SERVICE FOR U. S.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—In an unusual tribute the treasury department today officially announced that Carole Lombard, famed movie actress, had lost her life in the service of her country.

Carlton Duffus, who has charge of special activities in the treasury's defense stamp drive, said that Miss Lombard would have been riding on a train instead of the ill-fated TWA plane that crashed last night near Las Vegas. Next, had she not consented to aid the government's efforts to raise funds.

First Lieut. Hal E. Brown Jr., Second Lieut. Charles D. Nelson, Second Lieut. James C. Barham, Second Lieut. Stuart L. Swenson, Second Lieut. K. T. Donahue, Staff Sergeant David C. Tilghman, Staff Sergeant Edgar A. Nygren, Sergeant Robert F. Nygren (brother of Edgar), Sergeant Frederick P. Cook, Sergeant A. M. Belejchak, Corp. M. B. Affrine, Private Martin W. Tellrank and Private Nicholas Varsamine.

Home addresses of the army men were not revealed by authorities. Members of the crew were: Captain Wayne Williams of Reseda, Calif.; First Officer Morgan A. Gillette, Los Angeles, and Hostess Alice Getz, Glendale, Calif.

Returning To Hollywood
Miss Lombard and her party were returning to Hollywood from Indianapolis where she had participated in an Indiana defense bond drive.

The plane refueled at Las Vegas for the last of its transcontinental flight. It took off for Los Angeles—nearly an hour and a half by air—at 7:07 p. m.

Twenty minutes later the ship crashed and burned on the side of the mountain in the Potosi range, about 30 miles southwest of Las Vegas.

T. W. A. officials were advised of the tragedy at 7:30 p. m. and company executives and investigators left immediately in a chartered plane for the scene of the crash.

Officials said that the ship struck the mountain only 100 feet from the crest of the 8,700-foot peak. They were at a loss to explain probable cause of the disaster as visibility and weather conditions in the area were reported good.

Dan Yanish, watchman at the Blue Diamond mine, telephoned first reports of the crash. "I was watching the plane go over our diggings," he said. "It was a beautiful night, clear as a bell, and you could see for miles."

Saw A Flash
"It hardly seemed minutes as the plane faded away over Charleston range way, when I saw a flash, and then big tongues of flames razing skyward from a mountain side."

"The peak was covered with snow and the glistening white sparkled from the red of the fire."

All available ambulances and motor cars gathered in Las Vegas shortly after the crash was reported and they left for the vicinity of Table Mountain.

Because the region is one of the most rugged in Nevada, searchers abandoned automobiles and vehicles at the foot of the mountain and pressed up the steep slopes on foot and on horseback.

Major H. W. Anderson, executive officer of the air corps gunnery school at nearby McCarran Field, was in charge of the searching parties.

T. W. A. said that the plane was flying slightly behind schedule because of a delay in Albuquerque to arrange for the flight of a group of army officers and men from there.

Four persons gave up their seats to accommodate the army men. Passengers remaining at Albuquerque que were identified as J. Squigetti, a Miss Johnson, Mrs. C. B. Randner and Florence Sawyer.

City Stores, Plants Set To Talk Defense Problems

New Castle retail merchants and Greater New Castle Association officials expect to confer within two weeks to discuss the effect of tire rationing on store delivery operations, and related problems.

Executive Vice President Roger Jewett of G.N.C.A. said his organization will co-operate with the merchant association to work out the best delivery arrangements in the face of the fast-developing rubber shortage.

The government's strict tire edict means that stores the nation over must reduce truck operations drastically, and in many metropolitan centers the schedules have been sharply altered.

Industrialists Look Ahead
The G.N.C.A. plans to discuss with manufacturers, too, the complex problems facing industrialists in the light of new government orders—among them the conservation of waste materials.

Jewett said James K. Love, Shemango Pottery executive, will head up the group tackling the general problems of manufacturers, while Clyde M. Whittaker, Universal Sanitary Manufacturing Co. official, will serve as chairman of the committee concentrating its thought on the conservation of waste matter.

Nelson, Knudsen Given Big Jobs

Named To Head War Production Program Of Entire Nation

KNUDSEN MADE LIEUT. GENERAL

By DAMON RUNYAN, JR.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Two big, soft-spoken American businessmen today began the giant task of converting industrial efforts of the United States into the greatest war production machine ever conceived.

Donald M. Nelson, former mail order house executive, now American war production czar, was charged with organizing peacetime industries into a vast machine for production of planes, guns, tanks, warships and other war materials.

William ("Big Bill") Knudsen, one-time head of General Motors, was assigned the tremendous job of expediting the war production program as a lieutenant-general and director of the War Department's sweeping munitions program.

With the help of the two men and their lieutenants, President Roosevelt hopes America's peacetime industries will produce 185,000 airplanes, 120,000 tanks, 18,000,000 tons of shipping and 55,000 anti-aircraft guns in the next 18 months under a $128,000,000,000 war program to defeat the Axis.

President Roosevelt, in an executive order, gave Nelson virtual dictatorial powers over the nation's war industries program—authority second only to his own—and the new production "boss" wasted no time in settling down to work on the immediate major tasks before him.

Tasks Assigned

Foremost among the jobs are:

1. Conversion of peacetime industries to full war time production, with transformation of the automobile manufacturing capacity the biggest problem.

2. Speed-up of production in all lines.

3. Procurement of necessary materials and other facilities for production of machines and weapons.

4. Maintenance of supplies of vital commodities.

It was understood that Nelson contemplated a reorganization of the office of production management, headed by Knudsen, to cut down on "red tape" involved in procurement of materials for the defense production program.

It was uncertain whether Nelson planned to eliminate the top OPM positions of director-general and associate director general, the latter now held by Sidney Hillman, but some officials believed he would transfer production, purchasing and contractual activities to the army and navy under the joint board.

The divisions that would be left in OPM by such a transfer would be priorities, labor, civilian supply and materials. It was speculated that labor would remain under Hillman, civilian supply under Leon Henderson and materials under W. C. Batt, while Chief Deputy Director J. S. Knowlson of priorities might be given the directorship of that division in place of Nelson.

Missionaries Are Reported To Have Been Massacred

Presbyterian Missionaries On Hainan Island Reported Slain By Japs

(International News Service)

CHUNGKING, Jan. 17.—Another victory has been scored by Chinese troops, this time in the Hwaiyang area of Honan province, where a Japanese "rescue force" was "decimated," military headquarters said today.

The hapless Jap force was engaged in trying to break the Chinese iron ring of troops which has surrounded the city and seized its inner wall, according to the communiqué.

Cut off from food supplies, the trapped Japanese force within the city was said to be suffering from hunger and thirst.

Meanwhile, the Chinese officially stated that all members of the Presbyterian missions in Hainan Island off the coast of French Indo-China were massacred by the Japanese after the outbreak of the Pacific war.

The communiqué, dated "Somewhere in Hainan," listed the dead as including the Rev. and Mrs. D. H. Thomas, Miss M. H. Taylor, a Dr. and Mrs. Seaton and a registered nurse, name not given.

Stationed at Kachek on the island, according to the 1941 Protestant directory, were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, a Miss M. H. Taylor, a Dr. and Mrs. Seaton and the Rev. and Mrs. A. E. French.

At Nodoo, another missionary town on the island, were stationed M. M. Moninger, Mrs. M. R. McRose, Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Birkwall and the Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Bucher, according to the directory.

STUDENTS TAUGHT INTRICACIES OF BALLOON FLYING

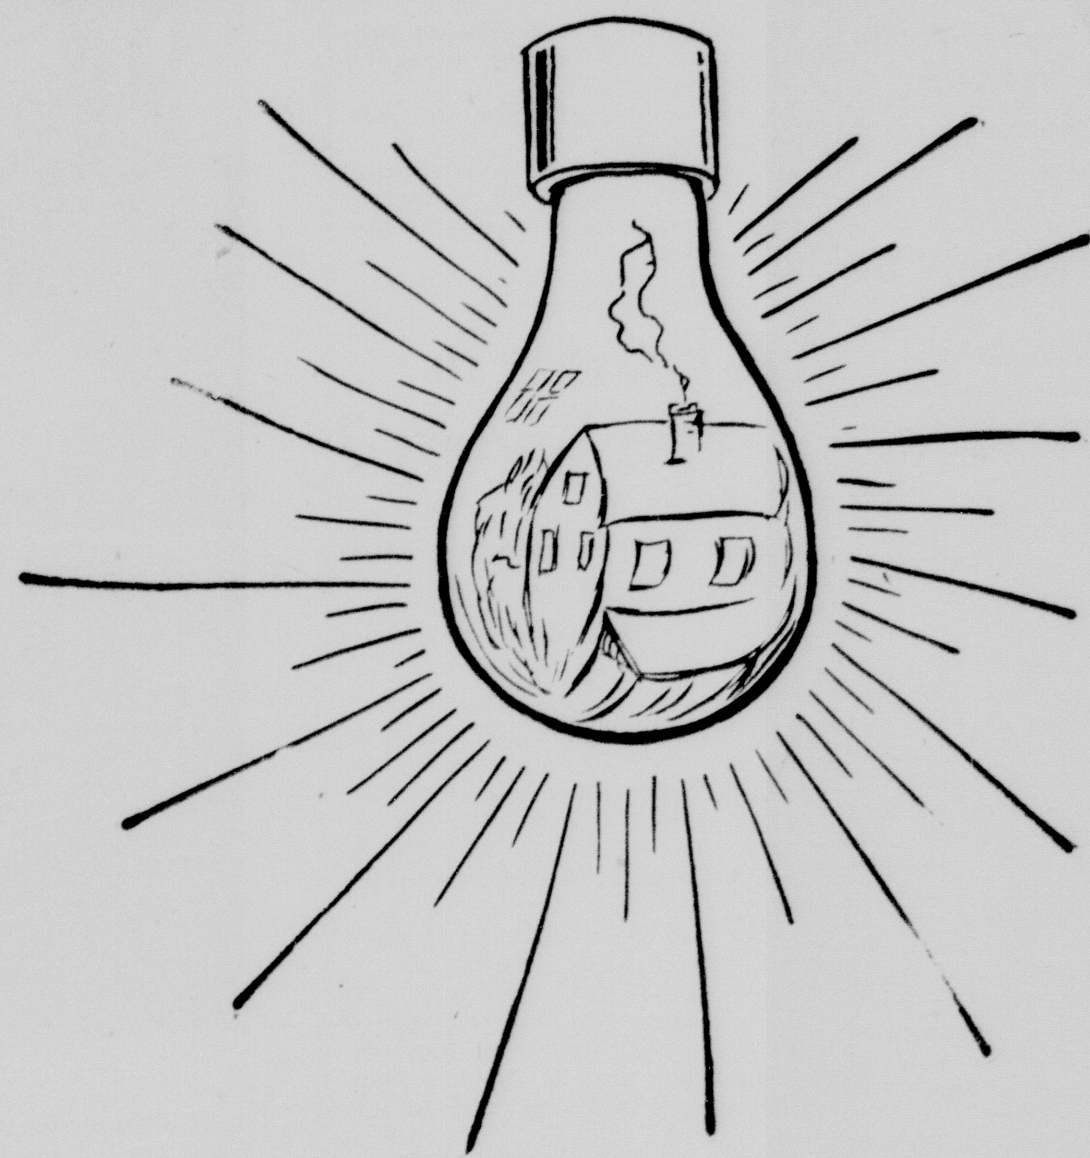

(International News Service)

AKRON, O.—Ballooning flight training may sound rather prosaic in these days of stream-lined, high-powered aeronautics, but 17 young men in training at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. are quite serious about lighter-than-air operations.

The students, hand-picked from a big list of applicants, are preparing to play a big role in national defense, and although they are being trained by private enterprise rather than the U. S. army, officials believe they will be ready for any emergency.

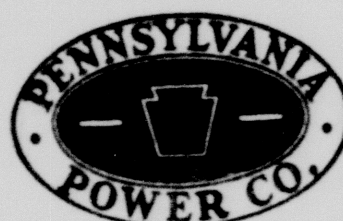

The course consists of two schools—flight and ground. If the student gets through the Goodyear course, however, he is capable of passing the physical, educational and actual flight training requirements established by the U. S. Naval Reserve, year's airship operations is in Karl L. Fickes, manager of Goodyear's course.

PROTECTION ALWAYS

WHEN YOUR HOME IS IN THE LIGHT

Crime doesn't seek the spotlight. In fact, crime doesn't like any light. That's why an electric light burning in the home when you are out is a "beware" sign to any would-be prowler. And, a light outside is a source of comfort to part of the family left at home while the man of the house is at work. Use your lighting for all its benefits.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

To All RIECK Milk Customers Getting Home Delivery Service

This company and its employees are pledged to 100% support of our Country's "All Out" war effort. We know that we can count on you to co-operate with us in making this policy effective.

An all important part of this program is the conservation of essential materials. Immediate steps are being taken to conserve tires and automotive equipment. In line with this objective, the following modification of our delivery services becomes necessary:

Effective Monday, January 19th
Home Delivery of Milk Will Be Made Only on These Days:
Monday, Wednesday, Friday, Saturday

Your cooperation in anticipating your needs and placing a regular order will greatly contribute toward the success of this effort. Obviously, any provision for special deliveries would defeat the purpose of this plan.

The high standards of purity and the quality control maintained by the Sealtest System of Laboratory Supervision assure the keeping-quality of Rieck's Dairy Products, when properly refrigerated, far beyond the period which this delivery schedule makes necessary.

By your cooperation, you will share with us and with your good neighbor, the dairy farmer, a great responsibility. Pulling together, we shall see that the workers who produce the tools of war are regularly supplied with a food essential to their fighting strength and "thumbs up" spirit until victory is ours.

Triple 'A' Girds For War Effort

Farmers Will Put Forth All Out Effort To Help Win War

EIGHT-POINT PROGRAM SET UP

Dorris L. Fulkman, chairman of the Lawrence County Agricultural Conservation committee, led a delegation of county and community committeemen and farm checkers to a six-county conference held at Brookville, when an eight-point program to help win the war was adopted.

M. W. Shingledecker, farm fieldman called the meeting to order and introduced Clyde A. Zehner, state committeeman of Luzerne county as the presiding chairman. He explained the purpose of the meeting was to impress the farmers of Pennsylvania with the importance of keeping our own people and those of the allies well fed.

H. L. Manwaring, of Washington, D. C., Chief of Program operations in the Northeast Division also spoke of the seriousness of the situation, stating that the United States must feed the soldiers of this country and also help the allies.

Those attending from Lawrence county, were: Chairman Dorris L. Fulkman, Frank P. Forbes, W. Carl Hileman, Frank Prew, Theodore S. Minor, J. W. Brewster, and Frank C. Edie. Those in attendance agree unanimously to support the Secretary of Agriculture, in an all-out effort to keep America and its Allies supplied with food.

The conference developed the following eight-point program:

To impress farmers with the importance of our job to win the war. To give information to the public through meetings and existing farm organizations.

To keep farms supplied with labor by cooperating with school authorities and local draft boards. Local draft boards are willing to keep skilled labor on the farms if they are given honest and accurate information.

To handle priorities for farm supplies and repairs.

To help provide markets for produce which may become a surplus in their community.

To aid in the collection of junk now on farms.

To administer the agricultural conservation program by contacting farmers and helping to obtain materials orders.

To check compliance on farms.

lie through meetings and existing farm organizations.

Auto Rationing To Start February 2

Indicate Tire Rationing Boards Will Also Handle Car Rationing

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Jan. 17.—Indications are that the rationing of new cars and trucks will begin on February 2 and will be handled by existing tire rationing boards, the State Automotive Association stated today.

According to information received from Washington, stated C. S. Klugh, association manager, the plan will permit the delivery of new cars and trucks where the local rationing board can be shown a bona-fide order was placed prior to Jan. 1.

New units shipped by factories after midnight, Jan. 15, and for the balance of production, will constitute a reserve which must not be sold until released by the office of Price Administration, probably not before 1943.

New cars now in stock to be rationed and cars in reserve will be subject to a price ceiling, continued Klugh, computed on the basis of the list price, plus federal excise tax, carload freight, handling charge of five per cent of factory price, plus five per cent freight. The ceiling is to be increased each month, beginning Feb. 1, one per cent of the list price to compensate for storage, finance and insurance cost.

Dealers must, on demand, take orders from new cars now being delivered by factories and turn them over to the office of price administration at wholesale prices. Dealers will not be permitted to sell cars at a higher than the ceiling prices.

It is disclosed that representative auto dealers have been asked to attend a meeting at Harrisburg on Jan. 27 with Secretary of Commerce Mark S. James to explore the possibilities of cooperation with the government in the production of essential defense parts and accessories.

Virtue seldom survives hooh. When people get tight, their morals get loose.

New Flame-Throwing Submarine for the Navy

News of the Day

John Edwin Hogg, of Alhambra, Cal., shows his latest invention, a flame-throwing submarine. The sub would be loaded with 2,000 tons of a special fast-burning fuel for use at enemy fleet bases. The fuel would be discharged and fired with a detonator, setting a blaze over five miles of water. Top, left, inventor Hogg fills the model with oil; right, he sends the craft to its destination. Bottom, left, the oil is discharged, and right, the fire rages among the miniature ships. Naval authorities are said to be watching his experiments with deep interest. (Central Press)

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

CLASS MEETS AT JOHNSON HOME

On Friday evening the Green Lights Sunday school class of the Madison Avenue Christian church met at the home of Barbara Johnson of North Liberty street, with 12 members and one visitor present.

Norma Fulton was in charge of the business session.

A nice lunch was served by the hostess, who was assisted by her mother; marshmallows and wieners were roasted by the group before a large open fireplace.

The next meeting will be entertained at the home of Herbert Mulien of North Liberty street in February.

BIRTHDAY DINNER GIVEN BY CRUSADERS

At a suburban tea room Friday evening at 6:30, the Crusaders Sunday school of the Madison Avenue Christian church had their annual birthday dinner.

Music and games were the evening diversions.

The business meeting was in charge of Edward Bevan.

MISSIONARY SPEAKS HERE SUNDAY MORNING

Miss Veda Harrah, a returned missionary from India, now on furlough, will make an address at the morning service of the Madison Avenue Christian church, reviewing her work on the mission field.

Do You Own A "Scratching" Dog?

Does your dog constantly scratch, dig and bite himself—often until his skin is raw and sore? He may be perfectly clean and flea free, but suffering from an intense itching irritation that has centered in the nerve endings of his skin. He is in torment and can't help scratching—unless you try to help him. Try giving him Rex Hunters Dog Powders, once each week, and note the quick improvement. One owner writes: "If my dog could talk I know he would say thanks for Rex Hunters Dog Powders. He was raw and sore from scratching and just laid around. Now he plays and is full of pep." Arkansas Wreck Is Fatal To Seven

(International News Service)

PERLA, Ark., Jan. 17.—A toll of seven dead, with six of the victims listed as soldiers, was counted today in the crash of a Missouri Pacific passenger train and a freight train.

Locomotives of the two trains collided head-on late yesterday. No explanation of the mixup which caused the accident was forthcoming early today, but officials promised an immediate investigation.

The identified dead were Otis Thacker, Patsy Ky. James L. Stewart, Newport, Ky., Alfred P. Tackett, Louisville, W. Va., and James S. Stevenson, Louisville, Ky., all soldiers; and C. S. Edgerly, St. Louis, a traveling engineer for the railroad.

The other two soldier victims were not yet identified.

Fifteen persons, most of them soldiers, were reported injured, but the injuries for the most part were not serious. The first two coaches of the passenger train were derailed, and all of the injured were reported to have been aboard these.

Titans-Youngstown Play Again Tonight In New Wilmington

Titans Design Plan To Stop
Leo Mogus, Sensational
Penguin Scorer

TUSSLE STARTS
AT 8:15 O'CLOCK

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 17.—Opponents last Monday night in Youngstown, Westminister and Youngstown college wind up their perennial basketball series on the Titans' home floor at New Wilmington, tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

The first set to was undoubtedly one of the most sensational cage exhibitions ever witnessed in the area of the line town. The Penguins, paced by their scoring demon, Leo Mogus, burned the cords with an amazing offensive spurt. Behind 10 points, the Titans ignited the floor boards with an even more startling attack that netted them a 61-55 win by the time the smoke cleared.

Because of the sensational attack attached to the opening fray between the rivals, plus the Titans' march toward another state title, a capacity crowd will likely watch the game.

Almost tossed into the defeated roll for the second time this season by the almost incredible individual efforts of Mogus, the Penguins guard, the Titans have designed a plan to halt the whiz. Mogus rattled in 28 points Monday night. He'll be the man of the hour tonight.

Titans Start To Click

The Ohioms will face a Westminister team that has finally commenced to move into high gear. The local hoopers have had such an eye for the rims that a hot race for scoring honors has popped up. Only eight points separate the high and low man.

Dale "Smoky" Dummler, whose scoring effectiveness was snapped by the Ohioms, leads the entourage with 59 markers. Joe Spak, the cool headed and reliable guard, trails by a whisker with 58 markers. Lee Fox, whose comeback in the last three games has been the talk of the campus, is third with 55 points. "Buzz" Ridd, who generally starts the ball rolling on offense, has dropped 52 markers. Stan Wask, the long center who has been getting bad breaks around the hoops, has counted 47 points.

The Titans will again bank on their beautiful to watch zone defense in the hope of thwarting

Union Defeated By Mt. Jackson

League Leaders Handed Surprise Last Evening 29 to 28 On Own Floor

The Section 20 league-leading Union High team was given a surprise last night at the Union High floor, 29 to 28, by a hard fighting underdog Mt. Jackson High quintet in an exciting battle.

Union held a 16 to 15 lead at the end of the first half, but saw their lead overcome in the third period, that ended in favor of the Mt. Jackson boys, 25 to 23. Play was nip-and-tuck all the way in the last period, both teams unable to score much, owing to tight defensive play.

Starring for their respective teams were Daugherty, Reynolds and Bradley, the latter the whole works for the winners.

FAIR OR FOUL
By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Talking about a baseball club in a stew, podner, take the Brooklyn Dodgers. They haven't got a manager for 1942 and they may not have a spring training camp. Mr. Larry MacPhail, president of the club and a well known genius, isn't particularly bothered about the managerial situation. Pilots are a dime a dozen, even though most of them are not worth any more than that. But he is perturbed by the international situation as it may affect the Dodgers' plans to train again at Havana.

Where were we? Oh, yes. We were talking about baseball in Brooklyn and it is very easy to get confused when on that topic. Managers, and coaches and training camps and the antics of Durocher and MacPhail and the bankers who own the club and some of the players get you all mixed up. Furthermore, you never can tell whether something you are writing now will stand up in print through the first edition, without being knocked down by a fresh observation, announcement or scheme by MacPhail or an argument between him and Durocher or somebody else.

What About Camilli

For instance only a few weeks ago the baseball world was stunned, as we say in our pieces, to learn that Dolph Camilli had been placed on the waiver list by the Dodgers. That was dismissed as a routine thing and camouflage procedure in keeping with the custom. Clubs always put their stars on the waiver list so that players they want to get rid of in the hope that other clubs in their league will pass up the whole bunch and thus not claim some player that a club wants to sell.

But what does MacPhail do but announce that he wasn't kidding in the Camilli because he wanted to sell his first baseman—the National League's most valuable player—to the New York Yankees.

MacPhail wanted to get rid of Camilli—a sweet fielder and sportsman—because Camilli talked back too much.

So now where are we? He hasn't signed Leo Durocher to manage next season, according to all the best available information, and won't sign his National League pennant winning manager until next month when contracts are mailed out all the rest of the players, the Joe blows from down the river and all the others.

What About Durocher?

That's the way they tell it. But you want to know what I think? All that is so much nonsense. You don't win a pennant for a club president then be held in suspense on future plans until the last minute merely because he wants to exercise his rights as a genius. Durocher either has been signed or is on the verge of not being signed at all.

Maybe that doesn't make sense either, but don't forget this is a piece about the Dodgers.

In any case, MacPhail and Durocher insist they did not discuss his contract at a conference here during the last two days, and they didn't even cuss each other out again to hear them tell it. They didn't wrangle in the least as to whether Durocher is going to stay on the bench as he prefers to do or play shortstop as MacPhail has been demanding.

They did not throw any ink wells at each other, or muscle up with threats and men's room talk, but just went along as a couple of real chummy officials, hopeful of straightening things out for next season. Perhaps that's right. Anything can happen in Brooklyn.

Aside from all that, MacPhail now foresees some possible difficulties in his plans to train the club at Havana again. Transportation to Cuba has become a problem due to governmental demands and MacPhail is afraid that even if he can get the Dodgers over there he may not be able to get them back.

And wouldn't that be just like the Dodgers to get into great shape for defense of their pennant and then not be able to get back into this country for the baseball season?

That's the only thing that hasn't happened to them in their hilariously queer history.

Saturday sports nuggets:

Jimmy Schilla and Tony Dely, who joined the United States Navy recently, have dropped a card to the column operator. The popular local sports followers are playing lots of basketball at the Newport, Rhode Island, station. The pair sends greetings to their New Castle friends.

Nickie Gennock, perennially one of New Castle's top flight cagers, hopes to join the United States Coast Guard. He has undertaken the preliminary steps . . . Mt. Jackson high's reserves form a "H" team among county "Javee" quints, according to several observers. The Jacks' reserves give the regs a thorough going over occasionally.

Dartmouth laid it on so thick the other night that the Indians handed the Pennsylvania cage team the worst setback in 41 seasons. The count was 75-31. . . . Otto Graham, Northwestern star football-basketball performer, continues to lead the Big Ten in scoring. Sweet Otto potted 65 points in his first four league clashes. . . .

BELL SAVES ZIVIC
IN NINTH ROUND

By JACK SINGER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The only thing that has been able to whip Ray (Sugar) Robinson is the grapple—and if given a return bout, Harlem's sensational punching pinwheel would be a cinch to knock out the bum.

Robinson, who won't be 21 until next May, gave a remarkable exhibition of paralyzing punching and cunning boxing in stopping Fritz Zivic, the flat-nosed Pittsburgh museum piece in 31 seconds of the tenth round of a scheduled 12-round contest last night in Madison Square Garden.

It was Robinson's twenty-seventh consecutive victory since he entered the pay-to-play ranks in October, 1940 and his twenty-first knockout in 27 fights. If all his opponents were laid end to end, they'd look natural.

Midway through the ninth round, the lethal-punching Negro fired a whistling right cross to the jaw which spun Zivic around and sent him pitching forward on his face his head buried in the canvas like an ostrich.

Smeared With Resin Dust

His eyes as glassy as his paw, Zivic climbed to one knee at the count of three looking as if he'd fallen into a flour barrel. The entire left side of his head was smeared with resin dust. He tottered to his feet at the count of nine, and it was obvious that the rubber shortage hadn't affected Fritz. He had plenty in his legs.

The bell saved Zivic in the ninth, but Robinson surged out for the tenth, pinned the woozy veteran against his ropes and hammered him mercilessly with a two-listed leather barrage. Zivic slowly sank to his knees, his back resting against the bottom rope.

Referee Arthur Donovan didn't even bother to count. Stopping the scrap, although Zivic in full possession of his mental faculties, could have arisen to resume the hopeless struggle against his younger and faster foe.

Zivic Wins Seventh Round

From the opening bell until the stunning finish the crowd of 15,475, which contributed a gross gate of $45,054, breathlessly waited for Zivic to open up. But all he did was cover up. The Pittsburgh ring relic apparently didn't have anything but his old age insurance.

Robinson punched too fast and moved too fast, and except for his seventh round, in which Zivic hurt the flashy youngster with a sharp right to the body, Fritz couldn't find his opponent with a submarine detector.

Church League Games Revised

Games Revised

William "Butch" Winters, physical director of the "Y" announced today a change in the printed schedules of the New Castle church league for the games to be played on Monday and Wednesday.

The games Monday will be as follows:
Third U. P. vs. Central Presbyterian.
Second U. P. vs. First Baptists.
St. Vitus vs. St. George Greek.

Games For Wednesday
Epworth vs. Cuyon Methodist.
Mahoning vs. First Presbyterians.
St. Marys vs. Central Christians.

Ghost basketball has never been seen in this vicinity before, and is bound to be a crowd pleaser. The fans will sit in utter darkness as the "Spooks" zoom the ball of fire back and forth over the floor and into the basket. A special illuminating process makes the "ghost game" possible.

The admission price is so low that nobody can afford to miss this stellar attraction. The Gersons and St. Vitus will resume their floor feud immediately following the "ghost game". Both teams are anxious to win this important battle, the first of a series.

DOES DOUBT DUTY
Frank Denney, Ohio State University, is the number one diver on the varsity swimming team—and likewise head cheer leader.

MILTONS SCHEDULE
PLAINGROVE FIVE

The Milton A. C. basketball team will play the Plaingrove Boosters at the Arena floor on Sunday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock. All players are to report at 12:45 o'clock.

In the preliminary game the Milton Jayvees will play a fast local team.

DOES DOUBT DUTY
Frank Denney, Ohio State University, is the number one diver on the varsity swimming team—and likewise head cheer leader.

Two Of City's Finest Teams Will Play At Arena Following "Ghost" Game

Interest is mounting among the followers of the Gersons and St. Vitus teams over their impending game at the Arena next Wednesday night in conjunction with the "Ghost Game" that Manager Ed. Richardson is bringing to New Castle for the first time.

FROM ME TO YOU

Say, have you made your contribution to the Lawrence County Chapter of the American Red Cross? If you have been missed don't feel badly. Be a good American citizen and send in your contribution. It has been the aim to see everyone but sometimes names are missed . . . you understand we know.

To those who would like to have a dog . . . we offer the following suggestions, these dogs are FREE . . . all you must do is promise to give them a good home:

Robert Boyd, 209 W. Leasure avenue, Phone 1534 between 1 and 6 p. m. . . A male collie pup about 10 weeks old. Fine for the farm.

Dorothy McKnight, 435 Court street, Phone 1980 . . . White spitz, male.

A. H. Cummins, Phone 901-R . . . 2 puppies, part spaniel, females, about 2 months old.

Criswell, 503 Spruce street, Phone 1289-W . . . A beagle hound, 2 puppies, females, about 7 weeks old.

Mrs. Frank Schick, Phone 2795-J . . . part spitz, male, about 9 months old, has never been in the house. Would make some one a mighty fine pet.

It seems to us, that every public building should display the flag of the United States each and every day of the year. Some public buildings do carry out this loyalty but some seem to have forgotten. To us the stars and stripes form the most beautiful flag in the world . . . there is nothing nicer than to see the wind raking a flag ripple as the citizens of the United States go about their daily tasks.

It's here . . . Baccalaureate Services for those graduating from Senior high school . . . The Sunday they have been making 12 years for. Soon the seniors will be out in the world . . . making a living for themselves. You can remember when you were young? Of course you can, wonderful wasn't it . . . not too bad now . . . but really wonderful then. Well, think about the young men and women Sunday night as they sit there listening to their last official sermon as a student in the high school.

How about this classified ad page . . . have you read it recently? There just might be something here that will please your fancy . . . try it right now.

Trend Is Down

Some Of Blue Chips Feel Pressure In Market This Morning

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The stock market turned downward today with weakness especially evident in blue chips where some losses reached three points.

Eastman Kodak tumbled about three points. Chemical shares again were under pressure. DuPont fell around two points to a new low and Dow Chemical likewise was down. Union Carbide lost over a point.

American Telephone sagged a fraction. Steels were sluggish but most of them held around previous closing levels. U. S. Steel was an easy exception. Copper shares suffered fractional losses. Motors were mixed.

Texas Corp. was under some pressure in oils, while rails were inclined to sag. Boeing was lower in aviation. Farm implements eased. Sears Roebuck was firm.

Commodity prices were depressed. Grains were fractionally lower, and cotton lost 25 cents a bale.

The bond market was very dull and fractional declines slightly outnumbered advances. Losses on the curb market generally were small but some stocks gave up a point or more.

BESSEMER WANTS GAMES
The Bessemer Independent basketball team will take on all first class basketball teams in this vicinity, it was announced today by Coach Robert Lytle. The Bessemer roster, all former Bessemer High stars, reads as follows: Paul Johnson, Johnny Samsa, Dan Peltz, G. Summers, J. Perk, E. Swanson, W. Kurlshel, and others. For games call Bessemer 8043-J4. The Indies recently upset the K. Pulaskis 58-52.

Women for Police

To relieve regular policemen for more important duty occasioned by the war, hundreds of New York women have volunteered to do routine work without pay for the New York police department. One of the women is shown above being fingerprinted as she registered for the work.

THREE C. CLUB

MEETS FRIDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 17.—Mrs. Richard Blank was a special guest of the Three C. club last evening when members were hospitably entertained at the home of Mrs. Arthur Miller, North Sewickley.

For winning high scores, the nice awards went to Mrs. Clair McKim, Mrs. Walter Piper and Mrs. James Hoy. Mrs. Edward Boone aided in serving a tasty lunch.

On Friday, January 30, Mrs. Paul Durbin will entertain at the Norton home, Frisco.

ELLWOOD PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCandless Wayne township, have received word from their son, Raymond McCandless, that he has been shipped "overseas". He has been shipped with Company B, First Engineering Corps, at Ayers, Mass., and spent a short furlough with his parents in December.

Future Farmers Leave For Show

Lawrence County Is Well
Represented By Farm
Youths At Big Exhibition

BOYS ENTERED IN CONTESTS

Headed by County Vocation Supervisor E. C. Wiggins, and the Agricultural supervisors in the county schools, a large group of boys from the county Future Farmers of America are heading towards Harrisburg to take part in the big Pennsylvania State Farm Shows.

Some of them will take part in demonstration projects in competition with other F. F. A. groups, some will play in the big 150-piece band, chosen from boys all over the state, while others will take part in Keystone Farmer activities.

Accompanying Mr. Wiggins, were: Raymond McCracken, William Book, and Harold Johnson, who will play in the band, and Glen McIlwain, of Princeton, who will compete in hit bee project contest.

From North Beaver, accompanying their instructor W. W. Bell, are: Robert Byers, Keystone Farmer candidate, and also a delegate; and Lyle Fox, Glenn Reed, John Klammer, and Robert Brady, who will play in the band.

Jacob Bumgardner, instructor at New Wilmington, is being accompanied by Ralph Kyle, and Dick Moose, the latter a Keystone Farmer.

Murry McDunkin, instructor at East Brook, is being accompanied by Dave Jamison, Dimitri Turk, and Joe Sickafuse, who will present a demonstration, in competition with other F. F. A. boys from the state; and Willard Patton, who will play in the band.

Slippery Rock will be represented by Frank Cooper, Keystone Farmer candidate, and Lawrence McDaniel and Harold Pepper, who will play in the band; Willard Datt and Melvin Copeland, who are on the demonstration team, and Russell Miller, candidate for the Keystone Farmer degree.

From the district, Portersville is also sending a demonstration team, and Glen Kohser, Keystone Farmer candidate.

Beaver Falls is represented by Ray Whistler, winner of second place in a small fruit contest; Bill Russell who will play in the band, and supervisor William Youngdall.

The Future Farmer activities will open Monday and last through Wednesday. Tuesday night a big banquet will be held, and project awards will be made Tuesday night.

Accompanying Mr. Wiggins, who left Friday, was also A. C. Sprote, supervisor in Mercer county. Mr. Wiggins is on the state advisory council and will take an active part in the show activities.

Your Federal Income Tax

NO. 12 TIME FOR FILING RETURNS OF INDIVIDUALS

Income tax returns of citizens are required by law to be made on or before the 15th day of the third month following the close of the taxable year, which for most individuals is the calendar year. Since March 15, 1942, will fall on a Sunday, such returns for the calendar year 1941 must be filed on or before midnight of Monday, March 16, 1942.

Returns by nonresident alien individuals must be made on or before the 15th day of the sixth month after the close of the fiscal year, or on or before June 15, 1942, for the calendar year 1941.

If placed in the mail, the returns should be posted in ample time to reach the collector's office, under ordinary handling of the mails, on or before the due date. The envelope should bear proper postage and be addressed to the "Collector of Internal Revenue" at the correct address in the district where the taxpayer's legal residence or principal place of business is located. If he has neither, the return should be mailed to the Collector of Internal Revenue at Baltimore, Md.

The regulations grant an extension of time for filing returns of income up to and including the 15th day of the sixth month following the close of the taxable year in the case of American citizens residing or traveling abroad, including persons in the military or naval service on duty outside the United States. In all such cases an affidavit is required to be attached to the return stating the cause of the delay in filing, and taxpayers who take advantage of the extension of time will be charged with interest at the rate of 6 percent per annum on the first installment of the tax from the original due date until paid.

Ecclesian Club members will gather on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in their club rooms, South Jefferson and South streets, and will have a defense meeting, outlining defense work to be accomplished by the club.

Speakers on this occasion include: Judge W. Walter Braham, L. B. Round and Major Guy Wadlinger.

BIRTHDAYS of FAMOUS AMERICANS

(Compiled by Encyclopaedia Britannica)

1706—Benjamin Franklin, philosopher, scientist, and statesman, at Boston. The publication of his "Poor Richard's Almanack" series began in 1732. He invented a stove, discovered that lightning is an electrical discharge, helped to frame the Declaration of Independence, and obtained French aid for the colonies in the Revolutionary War.

1882—George Fuller, portrait painter, at Deerfield, Mass. Among his noteworthy canvases are "The Turkey Pasture," "Romany Girl," "And She Was a Witch," "Nydia," "Winifred Dysart," and "The Quadroom."

1832—Henry Martyn Baird, historian and educator, at Philadelphia. He was professor of Greek language and literature at New York university, but was famous as a historian of the Huguenots. His works are entitled "History of the Rise of the Huguenots of France," "The Huguenots and Henry of Navarre," and "The Huguenots and the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes."

Township Firemen At Walmo Monday

Installation Monday At Walmo
School; Advanced First Aid
Tonight In City Building

On Monday evening the Neshannock Firemen will meet in the Walmo school house for an important session, when installation of newly elected officers will take place, activities to begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Tonight, however, they will meet for their advanced course in first aid at the city building at 7 o'clock.

Retiring president is A. M. Mellor and the newly elected president is Abe Klingensmith. Other officers will be announced.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Tuberculosis in industry is a serious health problem.

Today's abnormal employment multiplies the difficulty.

There are overcrowded working conditions.

There is unusual migration of workers and worker-families.

Extreme congestion prevails in workers' living quarters.

These circumstances favor increase of tuberculosis.

Industrial workers are a susceptible group.

They harbor more active tuberculosis than do the average public.

Behind each fighter are 18 men and women in overalls.

Wars have always brought an increase in tuberculosis.

The public consciousness must be alert to this danger.

Tuberculosis, the silent enemy, must not check the war effort.

Victory Book Campaign Is Making Progress

Timely books are the ones to give—the book you are reading now—the ones your son had for his college courses last year or the year before—the one your brother bought when he took up amateur photography with such enthusiasm and no longer needs—the best-seller someone gave you for Christmas.

For our men in service—just like you and me—are interested in up-to-date books that furnish entertainment or instruction or background. So it is up-to-date books that the Victory Book Campaign is asking you to give for the service men.

So before you rummage too far into the attic, pause and consider whether the books that are so carefully packed away up there are the timeless sort—those that "age does not wither nor custom stale."

It is not the year that a book was written or published that will tell you whether it is out-of-date. Judge it by its condition (which should be good)—its print (which should be clear and not too fine)—but judge it most of all by its content.

If several men have read it with pleasure, then others will too.

To be more specific and give a few examples of books that are cited as being very acceptable in one classification—books of religion—if you have an extra Bible in good condition, please give it to the VBC for the men in the service. Or a copy of "The Bible Literature" by Bates would be welcomed, as would Morton's "In the Steps of the Master" or Links "The Return to Religion."

If you are in doubt about whether some of the books you want to contribute are suitable, call the library and ask for advice. The staff there will be glad to help you decide which will be acceptable.

Those you have already: please bring to the public library or one of its branches. The Shenango township school has also been designated as a collection center for the VBC. The Boy Scouts have volunteered to assist with collection, and a call to 2103 will bring a Boy Scout to get the books you want to give.

Auxiliary Firemen Are Learning Use Of Fire Apparatus Here

School Session Are Being Held For Volunteers In Defense Effort

In order that the men in the Auxiliary Fire Department, which is being formed to assist the local fire department in the event of any emergency caused by the war, principally to guard for defense, under the leadership of Fire Chief James E. Thomas, who is district deputy fire warden for Lawrence and Mercer counties, may be able to assist in an efficient and comprehensive manner, a school for these men has been established, where they can learn the necessary things to be of service.

The first session took place this week, and a large number of members of the Volunteer Departments were present. They received instruction in the use of the fire apparatus, and the different tools and gadgets now used by a modern fire department. They will also receive instruction in first aid.

Ellwood To Shoot At Local Range

Owing to the lack of a suitable range, the Ellwood-New Castle Interstate shoot scheduled for Ellwood City will be shot at the Cathedral range in this city Monday night at 8 o'clock, it was announced today by George Finley, president of the New Castle club.

All club members of both teams are asked to take notice of the change that has been made.

PITT COURSES TO BE GIVEN HERE

Extension courses in psychology and English will be offered by the University of Pittsburgh during the second semester. Dr. Frank W. Shockley, director, announces local courses will be organized on Tuesday, January 2, and Thursday, January 29, at 4:30 and 7 p. m. in the high school building. Classes will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:30 and 7 p. m.

Hints On Etiquette

In business it is wise, as well as good manners, not to gossip. Keeping the eyes and ears open and the mouth closed is a very excellent habit in a girl or man who works in a large office or store.

DON'T SUFFER

The tortures of piles! Try San-Cura Ointment at once. J. N. Roebuck of Dearborn Avenue, Cleveland, writes "Please send at once a large jar of San-Cura Ointment. It is wonderful for itching of piles." San-Cura Ointment is no less wonderful for minor cuts, bruises and skin irritations. It is best to wash with San-Cura Soap before applying the Ointment. Sold at Eckerd's and all drug stores.

Members Of Consistory Gather For Social Evening At The Cathedral

Friday evening's smoker, for members of the Valley of New Castle Consistory, a sort of preparatory gathering to the convocation planned for Wednesday evening, January 28, when the work of the fall reunion, interrupted by the illness of a number of the members, will be concluded and the 32nd degree will be conferred.

A splendid travelogue picture was shown, there was some good music and the meeting was concluded with a fine lunch.

FIREMEN TO HAVE MEMORIAL JAN. 25

Memorial services of the New Castle Fire department, which includes both the volunteer and paid men, will have their annual memorial service on Sunday, January 25, in the First Baptist church.

The services had originally been scheduled for tomorrow, but were postponed because of the bacillau-reate service.
